The Leicester Method

We are being primed for Big Pharma’s ‘final solution’ to this coronavirus ‘threat’, which will be nothing of the sort if existing vaccines and recent animal experiments on monkeys are anything to go by, but there are others much less dangerous, damaging and much more effective. Here’s one I wrote about in ‘I am Keith Mann I Cured Cancer at home.’ With Leicester again on lock down to contain an alleged ‘outbreak’ rather than the entire country some kind of progress has been made, but these are just baby steps in the right direction.

seems an inordinate length of time, but it's much more than that. This proves there is another way.

From the heart of the public resistance in the English east midland town of Leicester at the end of the 1800's the people were elevating the vaccine issue beyond anything witnessed before or since. The poor working people had been bearing the brunt of the vax fanatics and they were rebelling over the loss of freedoms and at the harm the compulsory injections were doing in their communities. We are again at that point in the cycle. The turning point.

At the pinnacle of this social revolt in 1885 an estimated 80,000 - 100,000 protestors from anti-vaccine leagues across the country gathered in Leicester to protest what they had experienced for nearly 100 years - the increasing aggressive vaccine programmes that saw thousands arrested and many voluntarily imprisoned for resisting and refusing to submit their infants to the vaxers. This international uprising was built in no small part by the Leicester Anti Vaccination League formed in 1869 and according to one record of this rebellion; it "came to have an influence out of all proportion to its size". I can't do justice here but for a statistically significant self regulated social experiment Leicester stands head and shoulders above the rest and is irreplaceable evidence that we can do better than vaccines, when we choose.

The Leicester Method was simple and beautiful. It relied on the cooperation of everyone working in the interest of each other and the vaxers told where to shove their lethal potions. With the vaxers warning of epidemics for everyone, in Leicester by 1887 the vaccination coverage rates had plummeted to 10% yet the death rate from infection was zero.

The role of the scientists and assorted experts is to replicate. Go on then! The survival of Leicester's brave citizens continued to surpass all expectations from there on and the dire medical predictions of the worst epidemic ever just around the corner for those who rejected diseased injections never came to pass. Elsewhere the vaccinated suffered significantly elevated death rates.

"The last decade has witnessed an extraordinary decrease in vaccination, but nevertheless, the town has enjoyed an almost entire immunity from small-pox, there never having been more than two or three cases in the town at any one time. A new method for which great practical utility is claimed has been enforced by the sanitary committee of the Corporation for the stamping out of small-pox is one of the least troublesome diseases we have to deal with. The method of treatment, in a word, is this:- as soon as small-pox breaks out, the medical man and a householder are compelled under penalty to at once report the outbreak to the Corporation. The small-pox van is at once ordered by telephone to make all the arrangements, and thus, within a few hours, the sufferer is safely in the hospital. The family and inmates of the house are placed in quarantine in comfortable quarters, and the house thoroughly disinfected. The result is that in every instance the disease has been promptly and completely stamped out at a paltry expense. Under such a system the Corporation have expressed their opinion that vaccination is unnecessary, as they claim to deal with the disease in a more direct and a much more efficacious manner. This and the widespread belief that death and disease have resulted from the operation of vaccination, may be said to be the foundation upon which the existing opposition to the Acts rests." 'Anti-Vaccination Demonstration at Leicester', The Times 24, 1885.

"Leicester had less than one-third of the cases of small-pox and less than one-fourth the deaths in proportion to the well - vaccinated Birmingham; so that both the alleged protection from attacks of the disease and the mitigation of its severity when it does attack, are shown not only to be absolutely untrue, in this case, to the absence of vaccination." J.W. Hodge MD describing the 1891 - 1894 smallpox outbreak in the Vaccination Superstition 1902.

population under ten years practically unvaccinated, had a small-pox death-rate of 144 per million; whereas Mold, with all the births vaccinated for eighteen years previous to the epidemic, had one of 3,614 per million." William Scott Tebb, MD, A Century of Vaccination and What It Teaches, 1898.

We can tell ourselves and each other that they wouldn't do harm to our children but that doesn't change the fact that a great deal of harm is being done to our children, and why? When a baby gets infected naturally with a communicable disease, his immune system responds through a sophisticated chain of reactions that generates a permanent key to that disease DNA. This is a lesson in life and as old as the beast and as efficient as life itself. I think it's always best to do it as nature intended and to do it with the very best of intention.

Vaccines intercept this natural process and add that toxic mix of live or killed viruses, matured in animal and human body parts, mixed with proteins from other species, killed bacteria, genetically engineered DNA and RNA fragments and chemical preservatives, injected into the muscles, the blood, the brain and the baby. This entire process is abnormal: square peg, round hole. The use of a needle bypasses natural immune defences, which in turn disables the necessary immune response through which these intricate systems learn to communicate and construct DNA access codes, mount a defence and strengthen. The crude tinkering of the quacks sends everything out of sync and deprives the body of its survival driven instinct to naturally imprint life-long immunity in all its unimaginable complexity.

Mass vaccination is a man made attempt to play god and get us to pay them for their service. We hear the rhetoric and rely on wishful thinking. They are seeking to conquer the human being and to replace our innate infection response with a seemingly endless bombardment of artificially imposed genetically modified viruses and a hopeful immune reaction determined by aggressive drug company vaccination schedules.

Who invited these people anyway? I don't remember all these diseases or any others wiping out my classmates in the 70's and 80's when this insane clamour to invest heavily to save every child from every ill gripped the controllers of orthodox medicine. What I do clearly remember was scheming to drag a dose out long enough to get me into a second week off school instead of the 3 or 4 days I needed to recover from the measles, chicken pox or tonsillitis. The need to prevent every ill is subjective, the desire is financial and it's based upon made up science.

Through the fog of two world wars and a heap of hype the vaxers had regained control of the agenda and Leicester had succumbed. It's 2001 at the Joint Committee on Vaccination and Immunisation and it's the same old story.

"A large outbreak of tuberculosis had occurred in a Leicester secondary school. Most of the affected... had been previously immunised with BCG. There therefore appeared to be a high risk rate despite the use of vaccine. It was noted that despite the incomplete, and variable, efficacy of BCG vaccine in trials across the world, no new candidate vaccines appeared better than the existing BCG in animal models. JCVI was content to await further evidence."

What that says is the bargain basement technology did ok in some iffy animal tests and kinda passed the loaded clever sounding over-costed double-blind clinic trial process, so it makes no difference it doesn't work in children in the real world 'cos science is science and science keeps things nice and orderly.'

story, it is comprehensive, detailed and impressive. It is based on my research and tells of my journey. It is a powerful story. I cannot and do not seek or intend to advise anyone on how to treat cancer. I do however advise that scientists and medical professionals take note of this research project for the benefit of humanity and I willing offer my services in that regard.
