

The Coming Covid-19 Vaccine

This information is very urgent and I really encourage you to think about the things that I'm saying. This is not a new topic for me as I've studied vaccines for 20 years. So I'm very familiar and very passionate about this information. Whatever you learn here, please share with friends, family and on social media platforms.

My Name is Dr. Carrie Madej and I am an internal medicine physician, osteopathic trained. I do not represent any companies or group. I am not getting paid or reimbursed and the opinions stated are solely mine alone. This information is not intended to diagnose or treat any individual. If you have symptoms, please see your individual health care practitioner.

The most important question/choice of your life is "What does it mean to be human?" This is a very important question. It is going to be very important for this Covid-19 vaccine that's being developed. First, some basic facts:

Altering our DNA

Each of us has enough DNA in our bodies that could stretch up to 10 billion miles when uncoiled. That's about 35 thousand terabytes of data, which is about 35 million hours of high-definition video.

So what information does this DNA hold? It's your blueprint for life, how you're created and designed, how your body functions, how it grows, how it reproduces, and even our thoughts and memories.

DNA is similar to computer code or binary code, if you are familiar with those. That's where it takes a small change in the pattern or code and it will have a very grand effect.

Science has advanced to the point we can insert a gene into the human genome(1), we can put something extra in there, or we can take something out so that it's missing a gene.

You can translocate, meaning you can take one part of the genome and move it into another area of the genome, altering God's original design.

You can even cut out a part of the genome of the human, take a synthetic or artificially created piece of genome and insert it into the human genome. This is also referred to as an "engineered cell line," a "synthetic cell line" or "genetically modified cell line."

However, when you do this you are rewriting that person's genetic code. You're rewriting/changing your God-designed software program. Which begs the question, how much change of our personal DNA code would it take for us to be considered "not human"? And is it even ethical or legal?

This is going on today. These are very important things to understand and discuss because they are currently doing this and trying to roll out this technology within this year.

Patents

You can't receive a patent anything natural or from nature. Something wild, something that grows from nature, you can not patent or own those seeds. But you can patent anything that has been created, modified, or engineered.

For example, Monsanto has genetically modified various seeds. Therefore, it's created something a little different. You may see corn, tomatoes or other vegetables in the grocery store that look the same as God's original design, but they're not. Monsanto changed the DNA so that the outside looks the same but in the inside is different. Therefore they can patent, control and own those seeds.

So transpose that to a human cell line that could potentially mean that we could be patented, or human cell lines could be patented. And if it's patented, it has owners. Do you see a problem with this?

What if our DNA is modified with genes from another species? Are we still human? Is this trans-humanism? And what if our DNA, our genome, is modified and thus can be patented and owned? This is going on right now, today.

This is called recombinant DNA and recombinant RNA technology. And this is what is proposed for the COVID-19 vaccine.

The Coronavirus/COVID-19 vaccines are designed to make us into genetically modified organisms in the same way Monsanto has modified and patented their seeds.

The frontrunners for the recombinant DNA technology are:

INOVIO (Backed by The Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation)

GlaxoSmithKline

Sanofi

Moderna (Backed by Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation)

I will add that this type of DNA vaccine has never been used on humans before. Let me repeat that, this has never ever been on humans before. Never.

They are now proposing to take something we have never used and inject it into everyone that will make them trans-human.

These vaccine trials are being fast-tracked at a level and rate that I have never seen in my life, nor did I ever expect to see. They are skipping over the animal trials and going directly to human trials.

They are not using good scientific methodology at all. They have no randomized placebo-controlled trials for any vaccine, which is the gold standard for any therapy to be approved by the FDA. They're not following any sound scientific protocol to make sure this is safe for us, to make sure it would work for us, or to know anything about it—and they want to inject the vaccine and DNA altering cell lines into the masses.

The vaccine manufacturers, referred to as Big Pharma, were made exempt from product liability in the 1980s. Meaning that if a vaccine causes seizures, paralysis, etc., they as a group are not liable.

Big Pharma is also exempted from randomized control trials. They are doing this with the COVID-19 vaccine, but they are also doing this with other vaccines recently where they can just say, “Well, we’ve had the MMR vaccine before, we don’t need to do that—we may have tweaked it a little bit but it’s still the same thing.”

What kind of mindset is that? I can’t believe that, because just a little change in our DNA can make a big difference. Worse thing of all—they are exempted from needing evidence to prove that these vaccines will do what they say they will do.

For instance, Big Pharma just has to prove that the vaccine is producing antibodies. Just because you’ve got antibodies does not make you immune to something. Without testing we don’t know for a fact if it would really work as claimed out in the population of people. A real study would show that it actually works, or doesn’t work, in the population of people. But they are not testing, saying they don’t have time.

So it may not work at all!

Let’s ask ourselves what is the purpose?

Another important fact to know about all vaccines is that many of them are using the MRC5 aborted fetal cell lines from the 1960s. This is an immortalized cell line. Immortalized means it does not die. In other words it’s a cell that has lost the ability to go through apoptosis—natural cell decay and death. A cell that cannot go through that death process is called cancer. That is a definition of cancer. So they are trying to use a lot of words to mask the fact you’re being injected with cancerous cells.

Another term for aborted fetal cells is diploid cells. They have other terms for them, but I am just giving you the two main ones they'll use if you look at the list of ingredients.

Some of the vaccines that are using these cancerous cell lines from aborted fetuses are:

MMR - measles, mumps, rubella

Chicken Pox

Shingles

Hepatitis A & B

Polio, etc.

Now, I just want to put this point in because people always tell me, "What you're saying is fantastical — there's no way this is going on, absolutely not. I trust my government and their companies, and I trust Bill Gates. You're saying false information."

I just want to tell you that many, many physicians and researchers have tried to get this information to the public for many years and have been silenced one way or another. Many of my colleagues have tried to do that and I have tried my best. We have tried to bring this to the public, but when there is enough money behind it, the information is stymied.

You know the media is controlled and that is why you don't see health care professionals and other researchers speak up more. You see a few, but you don't see the group of us because we don't feel like we have freedom of speech without potentially losing our jobs or right to practice.

An Italian report backed by the government of Italy and a group of scientists called Corvelva gave us conclusions about some of the vaccines I just mentioned. They state that these vaccines have the potential to increase tumorigenesis, which means increased risk of cancers, increased risk of mutagenesis or mutant genes. They would have an increased risk of transmitting live infections. This is well known.

The Covid-19 vaccines will have a bacteria that's a contaminant—mycoplasma pneumonias.(2) It's a very common bacteria used as a contaminant. This really has nothing to do with the vaccine itself but they have it in there. So you are getting an infection on top of the vaccine.

This stuff is so bad it has the potential to be used as a bio weapon. They are injecting cancers into your body along with very toxic substances, like mercury derivatives, aluminum derivatives and other things like that. In addition to the unknown effect of the combination or an accumulation of these vaccines together and the synergistic effect that happens.

For instance if you have one vaccine with a known amount of side effects and another with its known amount of side effects and you put them together in a humans body within some time frame, its not just like A plus B equals AB. The two together can have a synergistic effect and have a hundred times more detrimental side effects than just what you would imagine. We don't know this since there hasn't been any studies done on this.

The pediatric population is definitely the most susceptible due to the immaturity of their immune system. Which would be common sense.

Let's go back to the topic of why the vaccines are being pushed so heavily on us if the current research and evidence for using them is flawed. So let's follow the money and that usually will give you some better ideas.

In 2011 the German company CureVac was given $33 million for their research and development of RNA vaccines. Then in 2013 Moderna therapeutics was given $25 million for their research and development of RNA vaccines. Then in 2015 INOVIO was given $45 million for their DNA vaccines, which they also mention admitting to using DNA nanotechnology. Nanotechnology is using microscopic robotic organisms in their vaccines. All of these companies are backed by, or associated with, the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation.

It's important to know so far that these companies have been unable to get these products licensed for human use due to the fact that these vaccines have failed to provide sufficient immunity in human trials. Sufficient immunity is again only stating that you have a certain amount of antibodies. This again is not showing that the person is completely immune out in the public to whatever virus or bacteria they are trying to protect you from. It's only looking in in-vitro, in a test tube how many antibodies.

There is not good science yet to prove the efficacy of these vaccines. In 2010 DARPA, which is the Pentagon's Defence Advanced Research Projects Military Agency, started focusing on DNA and RNA vaccines and they had a synthetic DNA vaccine that could be delivered via non-invasive electroporation, which is using a sticker with micro needles in it on your skin—you can barely feel it go in there. And in their words "it is to enhance and subvert" humans at a genetic level. This is around the same year Bill Gates heavily started to fund the DNA and RNA vaccines with the companies mentioned above.

In 2012 DARPA acknowledged a brain machine interface that is artificial intelligence (AI). They are making Artificial Intelligence and the human brain to have the ability to form a neural network ... therefore humans would have the ability to communicate by thought alone. But it is a two-way street, meaning humans could be influenced or controlled remotely.

Millennials will love this. You go into your smart home and think about turning on the air-conditioner or the fan or your favorite program, or have the stove start cooking something and it happens because it's wifi. But they don't think about the fact that the smart home can give you messages too! Whoever controls the Internet would have control.

Another DARPA program came out around the same time that is next-generation non-surgical nanotechnology N3 program. It involves non-invasive or minimally invasive brain computer interfaces to read and write directly onto your brain. This means they're rewriting what is happening in your brain, your memories, your thoughts.

People think this is exciting. It's literally the Matrix! If I want to learn karate then you download it into your brain and then your brain would know how to do it. If you want to learn how to be a French cuisine chef, just download the app and instantly, you can do that.

You could learn a language probably within days! That part sounds cool, but do you think you can control this? Something else is controlling you, something else is rewriting your emotions, experiences, you may have artificial memories of things. You don't know what is reality, you have become a character in a computer program. You do not control yourself in this environment. This is not Sci-Fi—this is happening today.

Also note that DARPA funded a company that produces soft flexible hydro gels. Hydro gels are injected beneath the skin to perform health monitoring. It's important you hear this. They sync to a smart phone app to give the user immediate health insights. However, hydro gel nanotechnology grows and spreads in the body once implanted. We do not know how this affects our DNA. We know that it can send information directly and continuously through an artificial intelligence. So all of us in our smart phones have health apps one way or another. It's in your phone, sometimes you have to look under a google app, whatever—it's there. You can disable it but you can't erase it, it's impossible.

This is the COVID-19 apps they are putting out — it has to do with this. They're getting you set up, you have the app, you have the software, now all you need is this little hydro gel that's put on your arm and then forever everything in your body is monitored. For a women your ovulation, when you menstruate, how many times you've had sex. For men, how many times you've had sex, how much alcohol content is in your body, all your vitamins and minerals, if you've fallen down, how many steps you're taking, if you're anxious, your emotions, for sleep. Everything. They know everything about you continuously. And it's going into an AI program. What is that doing?

This is something they are already getting you set up for on your smartphone. This is not fantasy, this is real.

So in conclusion, we are entering uncharted territory that can change what is means to be human. The vaccines for COVID-19 are NOT safe by any scientific methodology. They are introducing cancerous and mutagenic cell lines into our bodies and have been for a long time. They are introducing toxins into our bodies which has been going on for a long time, and introducing different animal genomes into our body and this has been going on for a long time. They do NOT have proof that what they do will happen. There's absolutely no proof yet. They don't have to have the proof to put out these vaccines.

The recombinant RNA and DNA technology will cause permanent and unknown genetic changes in a person's body. Once their DNA is changed, he or she will live with that change for the rest of their lives along with the ripple effects from that genetic change. So, who knows what that change will be? There is no going back. It's not like "oh yeah I got that vaccine, didn't work so I won't do that again." No, it's do or die with this. I don't know and neither do they, or whoever is trying to market this really knows the ultimate outcome and it doesn't sound good.

Essentially this creates a new species and perhaps destroys an old one. Us as in all humans as we know it. It's also introducing nanotechnology and its robotic effects into the body. This is all suggesting the ability to use this vaccine and its ancillary products (the things I mentioned just now. Some of the names are like ID 2020 etc.) and then suddenly hook us all up to an Artificial Intelligence interface. This is not a one-way street; it is a two-way street that can change who you are, what you do. Basically, you'll be part robot.

So, I know this is a lot of information to digest. It scares me. I have been to scientific meetings where they've talked about this and I have been to business meetings where they talk about this. It is all very real. I have been studying this since my early 20s and it's very real. WE have to speak up now for us, for our families, for our future generations, and the human race. This is no joke guys. Please do your own research, as much as you can, start talking and stay on social media, stay on all of it and start flooding the social media with this. We have a chance if we start to wake up more people. It is with greatest love and peace I tell you this.

(1) A genome is an organism's complete set of DNA, including all of its genes. Each genome contains all of the information needed to build and maintain that organism. In humans, a copy of the entire genome—more than 3 billion DNA base pairs—is contained in all cells that have a nucleus.

(2) Mycoplasma pneumoniae is a type of "atypical" bacteria that commonly causes mild infections of the respiratory system. (sometimes referred to as "walking pneumonia.")
